OFFICIAL DIRECTORY of the
SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

Prepared and issued by Division of Personnel Management
July 1, 1940

(4337)

The Official Directory of the Soil Conservation Service is being issued for the purpose of systematically listing the location of each separate field activity for which the Soil Conservation Service is held responsible and where it has employees working. Among its activities the Service usually has a few projects and camps which are just being proposed or are in an abandoned state. This type of field activity has also been included in the Directory IF there are employees of this Service working at those locations.

In order to make it clear in what manner this Directory has been compiled the following information is given:

1. As far as possible an effort has been made to have the Directory include only facts which are supported by the official records of the Service. For example, the Directory shows no person in charge of an office who has not been officially approved to fill that position. (If an employee has been officially designated by the Regional Conservator to be in charge of an office, that fact can be reported in this Directory even though a personnel action covering such a change has not been submitted. This does not include changes in headquarters, however.)
2. This Directory does not list those headquarters at which the Soil Conservation Service is represented only by an unpaid agent or collaborator.
3. WPA projects have not been included in this Directory.

In submitting changes to be included in the Directory, complete and detailed information should be supplied in each case. As one example, in reporting the abandonment of an office, it should be indicated whether or not employees will continue to remain on duty at that headquarters. The Service has a number of "abandoned" projects and camps at which there are full-time employees still working. Obviously, it is therefore not sufficient just to advise that a camp or a project has been "abandoned."

Suggestions for the correction or improvement of this Directory will be welcome.

This Directory is maintained in accordance with instructions contained in Field Memorandums SCS #758 and SCS #758-A, and will be issued quarterly.

For a separate list of soil conservation districts only, or of demonstration projects only, or of other similar SCS activities, refer to the blue-covered Soil Conservation Service Directory, issued by the Information Division.
